

Dr Jean-Luc Angot
OIE Delegate for France

Doctor of veterinary medicine; Chief Inspector of Veterinary Public Health
Since April 2009: Deputy Director General, Chief Veterinary Officer of France at the Ministry of Food, Agriculture and Fisheries, Delegate of France to the OIE.
2001-2009: Head of Department then Deputy Director General of the OIE.
1998-2001: Deputy Director of France's National Interprofessional Office for Meat, Livestock and Poultry Farming (OFIVAL).
1996-1998: Assistant Secretary General of the French Interministerial Committee on Agriculture and Food (Prime Minister's Office), responsible for the French Codex Alimentarius secretariat.
1993-1995: Director of Veterinary Services for the French department of Meuse.
1989-1993: Veterinary attaché to the French Embassy in Rome, Italy.
1985-1989: Deputy Head of the bureau of international trade at the French food administration (DGAL) of the Ministry of Agriculture.
Holder of the title 'Lauréat de l'Université'.
Member of the Veterinary Academy of France since 2010.
Vice-President of Société Vétérinaire Pratique de France.
Author of around 40 publications.